Comprised of next generation leaders from all business endeavors, the Phoenix Club represents the diversity of Nashville’s economic market. We aim to be leaders in business and socio-political sectors in Nashville and throughout Middle Tennessee. Our mission is supported by more than fundraising: we partner with excellent non-profit organizations and their leaders to create synergistic relationships, reduce their operating costs, and augment our impact throughout the community.

Recognizing that the youth of our city and region are future leaders, the Phoenix Club offers its collective skill sets in entrepreneurship and business by means of mentoring while raising and donating money to our partner non-profit organizations. This unique combination of deliverables thus enhances the area youth’s chances to realize their full potential.

We have over a decade of experience as an organization and in the last five years have enjoyed exponential growth in outreach, mentoring, and fundraising. During the coming years we will shift strategies from annual giving and programs to sustainable long-term activities.

In 2014, the Phoenix Club raised over $300,000. Because we are a totally volunteer organization, we will be able to distribute the entire amount to local non-profit organizations. We are on the cusp of continued dramatic growth to attain our long-term goals of fundraising and strategic collaboration with the non-profit community.

Sincerely,

Craft Hayes
President
The Phoenix Club of Nashville
MISSION

To significantly impact the direction of our community’s youth by raising funds in a social setting that challenges young professional men to become community leaders.

The Boys & Girls Clubs has a long standing tradition of providing America’s youth with a safe after-school environment that fosters emotional and social growth, as well as education. This is especially true in Middle Tennessee, where the clubs have been making a difference in the lives of thousands of children for over 40 years now.

In 2002, the members of the burgeoning Phoenix Club of Nashville were looking for an outlet for the club’s philanthropy with the goal of supporting an organization that shared a common belief in helping at-risk, under-privileged, and under-served youths. Through several business and social connections, a great partnership with the Boys & Girls Clubs began. The initial premise was for the Boys & Girls Clubs to be benefactors of the money raised by the Phoenix Club: a noble endeavor by an organization still in its infancy. A few thousand dollars over the next few years helped, but it made only a minor impact in the operation of the Boys & Girls Clubs. The Phoenix Club’s annual donations to the Boys & Girls Clubs steadily increased but the overwhelming sentiment was, “How can we do more?”

In 2011, the Phoenix Club learned of some budgetary constraints around the Snacks Program, which is the Boys & Girls Clubs initiative to provide afterschool snacks and hot meals. For many of the children, this food is the only meal they receive on a given day. The incoming class of the Phoenix Club saw a substantial and worthwhile opportunity. It could support the program above and beyond the funds already earmarked by the club by means of annual donations with a special event. In early fall of that year, the Phoenix Club threw its first ever Snacks for Snacks fundraiser with all proceeds going to support the Boys & Girls Clubs’ Snacks Program. The fundraiser theme centered on young professionals in Nashville getting together to enjoy a few after work snacks while raising money to help pay for the snacks at the Boys & Girls Clubs.

The event was an immediate and substantial success. Over $10,000 was raised and awareness was created around this worthwhile cause. Each subsequent year, Snacks for Snacks has grown in both its popularity and resultant fundraising. This year’s event was attended by more than 300 people and raised over $14,000 for the Boys & Girls Clubs. Since its inception, Snacks for Snacks has raised approximately $50,000 helping to provide more than 300,000 snacks and meals.

Another challenge for the Boys & Girls Clubs is providing appropriate summer programs for its members that will both facilitate learning and imbue enjoyment. The clubs offer sports leagues where kids can have a great time playing basketball and baseball while learning the value of teamwork. The clubs also offer individual learning programs, which assist club members further their education in areas where they may need a little extra help. However, many of the kids do not have access to activities associated with the typical summer camp experience that is so engrained in the American psyche: activities like hiking through the woods, canoeing on a lake, and archery with your friends. In 2010 an opportunity arose to help fill this void.

One of our strategic partners, the YMCA, owns a local camp, Camp Widjiwagan. This camp offered an opportunity to create a mutually beneficial relationship between the Phoenix Club, the YMCA, and the Boys & Girls Clubs. The Phoenix Club offered to fully fund a summer program that would send a group of Boys & Girls Clubs’ kids to camp. This memorable, week-long experience would culminate in an activity called the Cardboard Regatta, during which campers would build makeshift boats and race them across the lake.

Not wanting the kids to have all the fun, a group of Phoenicians went to camp to help the kids build and race the boats. As people started paddling, cheering, and getting a little wet, the important question was asked... Who is having more fun—the campers or the adults?

Since that first summer, this program has evolved to become one of the most rewarding activities of the Phoenix Club with no shortage of members volunteering for boat duty. Since the summer camp program’s inception, the Phoenix Club has sent over 125 kids to Camp Widjiwagan and donated over $30,000 to the YMCA.

As the Phoenix Club has grown, its involvement with the Boys & Girls Clubs has done so also. It started with the clubs being the recipient of a few thousand of dollars annually. Today, Phoenicians sit on the Board of the Boys & Girls Clubs, donate tens of thousands of dollars annually for the organization, and actively participate in enriching the lives of the children in the club. The aligned missions of the two organizations have enabled a very natural partnership to actively make a difference in the Nashville community.

The Phoenix Club has sent over 125 kids to camp and donated over $30,000 to the YMCA.
Over the past few years, the Phoenix Club has looked at ways to expand on its mission of helping underprivileged youth of Middle Tennessee.

Ways included increasing the number of partner non-profit organizations and enhancing our philanthropic programs. The thought was that donating money was a simple and direct way to further a cause but donating human and intellectual capital can be much more impactful and rewarding. The question was… How can it do both in a meaningful way with non-profit organizations that share the Phoenix Club’s vision?

Enter Junior Achievement.

JA’s focus is to provide the youth of Middle Tennessee with the knowledge and skills to help them impact their own economic success. After learning more about the mission and vision of JA, it became apparent to the leadership of the Phoenix Club that JA could provide an opportunity to expand its impact in the community.

One of the most pressing needs for JA was for business individuals willing to mentor the students. This was an area where the members of the Phoenix Club felt that they could make a far greater impact than through just financial commitment.

Since 2012, the Phoenix Club has been involved in a number of JA’s volunteer opportunities that have enabled its members to connect with students, share experiences and insights, and help prepare the children for their future careers. One such opportunity is Classroom Lectures, where speakers make the connection between a student’s curriculum and its real-world application.
Another opportunity is the Company Program, which has been the most rewarding. Company Program is a thirteen-week in-depth entrepreneurship activity that pairs a team of students with a mentor in developing a company. The program allows students to see what business is really like and how their classroom learning is relevant in the real world. This truly hands-on initiative encourages the entrepreneurial spirit of the club’s members to guide the students on developing a company.

This year fellow Phoenician, Dan McCarthy, worked with students from Maplewood High School to create a company that sold joggers to fellow students, friends, and family. One of the highlights of the program is the Shark Tank where these students pitch their ideas to a panel of judges who decide whether to invest up to $150. The students use this money to start company operations and execute their business plan. At the end of the program, they compete for top honors in the Business Showcase with the chance to be entered into the national competition.

This year over 10 Phoenicians volunteered to act as sharks and judges in the Business Showcase to offer valuable insight as to the strengths and weaknesses of each company. For the past three years, the Phoenix Club has donated annually $5,000 specifically for the Shark Tank event to help fund the students’ business ventures. Ask any one of the sharks, and they will tell you that this is one of the most rewarding and enjoyable activities of the year.

In November of this past year, the Phoenix Club was also the title sponsor of the 2014 Nashville Business Hall of Fame Dinner honoring Jack Bovender of HCA. This event put on by JA celebrated not only a legend of the Nashville business community but also an inspiring leader and philanthropist. It was a natural fit for the Phoenix Club to support this great cause as Mr. Bovender epitomizes the club’s virtues of mentoring and philanthropy. It also created a significant amount of visibility for the club within the Nashville business community as a whole.

Working in close partnership with Junior Achievement has been an incredibly rewarding experience for the Phoenix Club, and each year brings another opportunity to make a difference in the lives of the youth of Middle Tennessee.

Since 2012, the Phoenix Club has donated $5,000 annually for the Shark Tank event, helping fund student business ventures.
Since 1984, the W.O. Smith Music School has been providing music lessons to low-income households for 50 cents a lesson. Starting from humble grounds with a mere 45 students, W.O. Smith Music School has grown to support over 700 students today. In spite of its low-overhead and volunteer faculty, the school must still raise funds to cover its annual administrative and operating expenses. It relies on fundraising events, foundation and corporate grants, and contributions from individual supporters.

Fellow Phoenician, Ryan Moses knows full well the impact the music school can have on kids; he spent many high school days there as a volunteer guitar teacher. In 2010, he made it a priority to become re-involved in the organization. As a first step, he created a Junior Advisory Board to introduce the young professional community in Nashville to the music school. As this relationship grew, Ryan saw another pressing need—fundraising. His vision was to have an upscale New Year’s fundraiser to expand awareness of the school among young professionals in Nashville. When he pitched this idea to the board of the Phoenix Club, it was an easy sell given the closely aligned missions of both organizations. Ryan was readily able to enlist the help of many of club members, as well as friends outside the organization to develop the logistics and create awareness for the event.

The result was The Fire Ball, a wildly successful event that sold out nearly a month in advance, had close to 300 attendees, and raised over $24,000. It was voted as a Runner Up for N Focus Magazine’s Award for Best First-Time Event.
Each subsequent Fire Ball has grown in size and popularity. It has become known as Nashville’s premiere New Year’s Eve party with nearly $84,000 raised in 2014. The Center for Non-Profit Management has even recognized the Fire Ball’s philanthropic efforts by recently naming it as a finalist for the Next Generations Award.

The Fire Ball raised close to $84,000 in 2014.

Over the past three years, the Phoenix Club has been able to raise over $150,000 for the W.O. Smith Music School. This amount has been crucial to maintaining the school’s mission of providing affordable music lessons to underprivileged youth.
The Phoenix Club has been a supporter of the Monroe Carell Jr. Children’s Hospital at Vanderbilt for a number of years, but the partnership was solidified in 2014 with an event that was tailor made for children—the Circus.

When Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus® came to Nashville in January of 2014, the children’s hospital was graciously named beneficiary of nearly $15,000 in ticket sales. Knowing how difficult it is to be a patient at the hospital, the Phoenix Club wanted to make this very special day at the circus possible for patients and their families by bringing some joy into their lives. The club sponsored 30 children and their families to attend the circus and enjoy a pre-party held at the Patron Platinum Club at the Bridgestone Arena.

During this event, each child had the opportunity to meet circus performers, including the ringmaster himself. After this VIP welcome and reception, the children and their families sat in reserved seats and were given a special introduction by the ringmaster to kick-off the show. Each of these kids has a remarkable story of strength. and bravery, and on this day at the circus, the kids were the stars.

Also in 2014, the Children’s Hospital hosted the first annual Rally for Kids with Cancer event in Nashville with the help of a number of Phoenix Club volunteers. This unique event featured celebrities and exotic sports cars and was a cross between a high-end scavenger hunt and the Amazing Race. Teams competed for the rally trophy and, more importantly, to raise money and awareness for Pediatric Cancer research at the Children’s Hospital. Rally car drivers and their teams were required to raise a minimum of $25,000 each to qualify. Then they could draft their respective Celebrity Navigator. The highest overall fundraising team earned the first pick during the The Qualifiers, a Celebrity Draft Party held on Friday night of the two-day event. That night, Celebrity Navigators got to hang out with their Car Rally Driver for a VIP celebration.

Eight Phoenix Club volunteers gave generously of their time and talent, volunteering to man one of the crazy pit-stops during Saturday’s events. The Phoenix Club was proud to support this amazing event which raised over $600,000.

A longstanding holiday tradition is the sending and receiving of holiday greeting cards; whether from business-to-business or friend-to-friend.

In Nashville, a large number of the cards helping to usher in the holiday season in Middle Tennessee historically has been provided by the Phoenix Club. The sheer volume and costs associated with arranging for and sending holiday cards to friends, family, customers, and business partners, presented an opportunity that the members of the Phoenix Club decided to pursue nearly 15 years ago. This effort served the dual purpose of raising money for our partner charities as well as cultivating relationships in the community with potential future donors. The Holiday Card Program proved to be so successful that for many years it was the sole source of fundraising for the Phoenix Club.

Over the years, the holiday card program has evolved as consumers wanted more options along with a more user-friendly experience. The Phoenix Club saw an opportunity to grow within the community of giving, distinguishing itself from other local card programs by innovating the card design and sales process. Launched in 2014, Phoenicians Zach Todd and Matt Nicholson developed an interactive, online platform that now provides an efficient, one-stop shopping experience enabling consumers to customize almost every aspect of the card from the design to the message. The Phoenix Club enhanced the program even further by allowing card purchasers to select one of fifteen local, youth based non-profits to be the beneficiary of nearly 70% of the proceeds from their purchase. This latest enhancement has enabled the donation of thousands of dollars to these charities without any additional cost or effort on their part.

Since its inception nearly 15 years ago, the Holiday Card Program of Middle Tennessee has been able to raise over $400,000 for various charities with more than $45,000 raised in 2014.

The ingenuity and entrepreneurial spirit of club members has enabled this program to grow with an offering that continues to outpace the competition. The Phoenix Club expects the Holiday Card Program to continue to be a driving force for philanthropy in Middle Tennessee.

For over the past 10 years, the Taste of Nashville has been not only one of the Phoenix Club’s signature fundraisers but also one of the best food-oriented events in Nashville.

It has grown from a few hundred in attendance to filling some of the largest venues in town. With many of the city’s best restaurants, brewers, drink purveyors, and entertainers, party goers and foodies alike have been drawn to the event to enjoy great food and great live music. It has even been dubbed “Nashville's Steeplechase of the Fall” by local publications.
This past year’s event lived up to its reputation. Held at Rocketown in the SoBro area, the event raised more than $76,000. With over 1,000 tickets sold, the Taste of Nashville set the attendance record and, at the time, the fundraising record for a Phoenix Club event. Fifty local food and drink vendors were able to satisfy everyone’s taste. The memorable night also included lively performances by the Chris Weaver Band and Turbothrust.

With the considerable amount of money raised, the Phoenix Club was able to name both Junior Achievement and Boys & Girls Clubs as recipients of the proceeds from Taste of Nashville. These dollars go a considerable way to making a difference in the lives of the children and youth served by both of these organizations.

In 2014, the Taste of Nashville sold over 1,000 tickets and raised $76,000 for Junior Achievement and the Boys & Girls Clubs.
The Phoenix Club of Nashville is uniquely positioned to collaborate with multiple non-profit organizations across Middle Tennessee.

By leveraging the strong business relationships and collective acumen of its members, we can maximize impact on economically disadvantaged and in-crisis youth. With our current fundraising structure, we are able to assist in attaining the missions of high-performing non-profit organizations such as the Boys & Girls Clubs, Junior Achievement, Monroe Carell Children’s Hospital, and the W.O. Smith Music School. As we grow our reach and fundraising ability, we will continue to expand our influence within these organizations and others across the region.

Moreover, as Phoenix Club looks to the future, we will evolve our giving relationships with our non-profit partners. We see an opportunity to raise the bar in philanthropy by:

- Investing in non-profit initiatives that increase the capacity of an organization to serve its mission
- Measuring, tracking, and evaluating results through programmatic outcome reporting
- Connecting area non-profits organizations with similar missions to improve reach, grow programs, and reduce costs
- Adopting a strategic giving approach by targeting successful programs, partnering with leading organizations, and growing the impact at an accelerated rate.

Middle Tennessee is ready to take the next step in smarter philanthropy, and the Phoenix Club of Nashville is positioned to spearhead that effort. Through continued collaboration with our partners, taking a thoughtful and structured approach to giving, and increasing the breadth and depth of our partnerships, we are committed to advance the reach and effectiveness of the youth non-profit landscape.

Founded in 1957, Junior Achievement (JA) is the world’s largest organization dedicated to educating students about workforce readiness, entrepreneurship, and financial literacy. The programs are volunteer-driven and specifically teach financial literacy skills to kindergarteners through 12th grade students. Junior Achievement of Middle Tennessee covers 21 counties and serves 33,000 students annually with nearly 1800 community volunteers.

JA also teaches young people how to generate and effectively manage wealth, how to create jobs which make the economy more robust, and how to apply entrepreneurial thinking to the workplace. Regardless of socio-economic situation, all kids benefit and some of the most compelling stories come from communities with limited financial resources. In these neighborhoods, JA presents choices that may have been otherwise unrealized: entrepreneurship and/or post-secondary education—opportunities that can change their future. Armed with knowledge and confidence, students are prepared to make a difference in their own lives and become a catalyst for change in their parents, siblings and neighbors.
JA Biz Town
• Experiential, on-site learning program where 5th grade students learn what it takes to create a business, operate on a budget, advertise and sell products, supervise employees, hold elected office, as well as personally earn and manage money.

JA Company Program
• 12-week entrepreneurial program for high school students where they create and launch and actual business enterprise.

Classroom-Based Programs
• Teaching students in Kindergarten through high school about business and economic fundamentals, career exploration, and workplace competencies through business and community volunteers who expose students to real-world perspective

Job Shadow
• Program where students shadow a professional in the workplace for a day which offers holistic and authentic work-world experiences by demonstrating to students what it takes to succeed in a field that is of interest to the student.

At Children’s Hospital, your family is their family, and they are dedicated to serving Middle Tennessee’s children. In addition to world-class facilities dedicated to the health of children, the exceptional medical teams and staff relate to patients in unique ways, helping put them at ease. This, along with the generous support of the community, enables Children’s Hospital to provide every child who comes to them the hope of improved health. Children’s Hospital is a nonprofit facility. No child who needs services is denied care on the basis of limited ability to pay. Family-centered care is paramount to Children’s Hospital, as family support is central to helping provide the best care for children.

Research at Monroe Carell Jr. Children’s Hospital is helping to solve the mysteries of prematurity and seeking ways to prevent it. Their discovery science experts are looking for reasons children develop heart defects in the womb. Childhood cancer patients find hope in new therapies, and new surgeries are being developed to save newborn babies. Researchers are internationally recognized for discoveries in vaccine development, genetics, pediatric epidemiology, autism, fetal and cardiac surgery, and more. Monroe Carell Jr. Children’s Hospital was named among the nation’s Best Children’s Hospitals for the eighth consecutive year in U.S. News & World Report’s annual rankings.

MISSION

The YMCA’s mission is a worldwide charitable fellowship united by a common loyalty to Jesus Christ for the purpose of helping persons grow in spirit, mind and body.

OVERVIEW

Camp Widjiwagan is an action-packed summer experience where confidence is created through skill development and new friendships are the result of teamwork. Widjiwagan is an Ojibwa word meaning close, lifelong friend. Because of the nature of teamwork required at Camp Widjiwagan, campers will not only learn more about themselves and their surroundings; they will also create lasting friendships, and sharpen character through program and activities that build independence and social skills.

KEY PROGRAMS

- Day and overnight camp sessions for children from 1st through 11th grades
- Campers will strengthen confidence, forge friendships, and sharpen character through programs and activities that build independence, self-esteem and social skills
- Organizational team building, conferences and retreats in the Joe C. David Center at Camp Widjiwagan
